Boston

Caitlin McCarthy, MFA '94, co-wrote a short film spoof called Deadline Knows honoring Nikki Finke and Deadline.com. In the spoof, two movie execs go to zany lengths to hide scoops from Nikki, but Deadline "always" knows! Help the spoof go viral by sharing its link on Facebook and Twitter. For more info on Caitlin, visit www.caitlinmccarthy.com.

Kim Davis '99 released a new book, Teaching the Dog to Think, a memoir about Kim's crash introduction to dog agility training. More about Kim »

Nick Mallia '05 works with Paris Creperie in Brookline, MA. They recently launched a food truck, name "la Tour Eiffel." Every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, they will be parked on Boylston street by Washington. We serve an array of breakfast crepes, pastries, sandwiches, and smoothies. Follow them @pariscreperie for updates and news.

Kyler Taustin '08 will be starring in the Brown Box Theatre Project's A Feeble Mind directed by Rebecca Bradshaw '11. The show will run through April 22. Click here for tickets and more info»

Los Angeles & San Francisco

Veronica Belmont '04 started a new FB group for Bay Area alumni. Join now and start connecting with alums in the San Francisco region.

Samantha Shada '08 and Emilia Richeson are honored to invite you to join The Hundredth Monkey Effect. Samantha writes, "Brad and Emilia are mad scientists. They've got some songs to sing and stories to tell, and did I mention the most important scientific experiment of all time? If you've got a wild side, or just like getting blazed while watching episodes of Quantum Leap, join the scientific research team of the The Hundredth Monkey Effect. (For real though, they might need your brain for it to work.)" Fridays & Saturdays April 13th through May 5th at the Attic Theatre 5429 W. Washington Blvd. Purchase tickets. 50% off with discount code: MONKEY

African American alumni living in Los Angeles have founded the first chapter of the EBONI Alumni
